Beyond the Request

Read the conversation between a customer and an agent. As you read, pay attention to what the customer says, how they feel, and what they need.

Agent 09:02 AM
Thank you for calling BrightLine Support. My name is Daniel. How can I help you today?

Customer 09:03 AM
Hi, I've been having problems with my internet since yesterday. It keeps disconnecting, and I have an important online interview this afternoon.

Agent 09:04 AM
I'm sorry you're dealing with this, especially with something important coming up. Can you tell me a little more about what happens when the connection drops?

Customer 09:05 AM
The internet works for a few minutes, then stops. I've restarted the router twice. I also called yesterday, and I was told to try the same thing. Nothing has changed.

Agent 09:06 AM
I understand why you're frustrated. You've already spent time trying to fix this, and you're still facing the same problem. Let me check your connection history before asking you to try anything else.

Customer 09:07 AM
Thank you. That's what I was hoping for. I don't have time to keep repeating the same steps.

Agent 09:09 AM
I've checked the line, and I can see that the connection has been dropping several times. It looks like we need a closer technical check. I can arrange a technician visit today between 4 and 6 p.m.

Customer 09:10 AM
My interview starts at 3 p.m. That won't help me before then. Can you do anything sooner?

Agent 09:11 AM
I can't promise that the connection will be fixed before your interview, and I don't want to give you the wrong expectation. Let me check whether there's an aarlier appointment available.

Customer 09:12 AM
Please do. I've prepared for this interview for weeks. I just need the internet to stay connected long enough to finish it.

Agent 09:14 AM
I can offer you an earlier visit at 1 p.m. I've booked that for you. I'll also send you the appointment details by text, so you have them in writing.

Customer 09:15 AM
That's much better. I still wish this had been sorted out yesterday, but at least I know what's happening now.

Agent 09:16 AM
You're right. You shouldn't have had to call again without getting closer to a solution. I'm sorry for the time you've lost. Is there anything else about the connection that I should note for the technician?

Customer 09:17 AM
Yes, it gets worse when I'm on a video call. Please make they know that.

Agent 09:17 AM
I've added that to the notes. Your appointment is booked for 1 p.m., and the technician will have the details you've shared. I hope your interview goes well.

Customer 09:19 AM
Thank you. I appreciate you listening and actually checking what was wrong.
